At Gates, we engineer every heavy-duty water pump with OE-level precision. Using advanced 3D laser scanning, we replicate the original design in exact detail through CAD modeling ensuring a perfect fit and reliable performance.

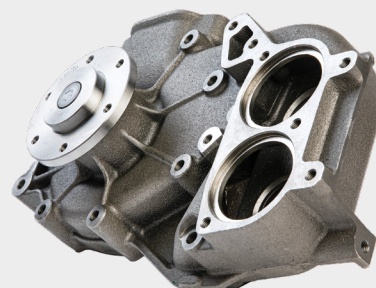

Since 2006, we've produced millions of water pumps annually, delivering fast development cycles and exceptional accuracy. Each pump features a precisely balanced impeller, individually tested seals and bearings, and undergoes a final leak test on both the casting and the fully assembled unit.
